

Principles of Public Health

A series of seven prerecorded presentations will be delivered via satellite broadcast by nationally recognized speakers. Following the presentation a live panel will continue to discuss and expand on the topic. A collage of stories from the field will highlight each session.

Purpose:

To increase the knowledge and understanding of the basic principles of public health and to help clarify the vision of Healthy People 2010, "Healthy people in healthy communities."

Targeted Audience:

The public health workforce including: support staff, administrators, management, nutritionists, nurses, environmental public health specialists, staff in administration, health educators, social workers, regulatory staff, program administrators, community partners, information technologists, physicians, school health nurses, public health students, and others interested in public health.

PLEASE ADJUST TIMES FOR YOUR TIMEZONE

Scheduled Time for Each Broadcast:

May 31; June 14, 28; July 12, 26; August 9, 23, 2001

11:45 a.m. - 12:15 p.m. test signal

12:15 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. CT Program

Topics, Speakers and Dates:

History of Public Health

May 31, 2001

John Bagby, Ph.D., Consultant
Retired Director, Missouri Department of Health

Essential Services of Public

Health: What Makes Us Unique

June 14, 2001

Bernard J. Turnock, MD, MPH
Clinical Professor of Community Health
Sciences, University of Illinois -Chicago
School of Public Health

Public Health and the Health Spectrum

June 28, 2001

James Kimmey, MD, MPH
Professor and Director, Institute for
Urban Health Policy, School of Public Health
Saint Louis University

Public Health Science

July 12, 2001

Larry Fields, MD, MBA
President and CEO
Saint Louis ConnectCare

Partnerships in Public Health

July 26, 2001

Bobbie Berkowitz, Ph.D.
Director, Turning Point

Public Health in the Political Arena

August 9, 2001

Mohammad Akhter, MD, MPH
Executive Director
American Public Health Association

The Future of Public Health

August 23, 2001

Maureen Dempsey, MD
Director, Missouri Department of Health
American Public Health Association

Registration:

Program site and individual registration will be announced at a later date.

Broadcast Sponsors:

Missouri Department of Health, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Public Health Training Network and Saint Louis University - School of Public Health

